Bree advises on energy and infrastructure projects globally. She advises on the full suite of project documentation including procurement contracts (EPC/construction variants, supply and services agreements), concession and offtake agreements, fuel supply agreements and consortium agreements/JVAs.

Bree has advised on power and energy efficiency projects across Asia, the Middle East, Africa and Europe including advising on renewable energy projects in some of the world's most significant subsidy and procurement programmes such as the South African REIPPP Programme, Saudi's K.A.Care Programme and the UK ROC Scheme. She was recently interviewed by Asian Power ("Why Southeast Asia's slow solar regulatory reform is frustrating", 1 June 2018) and quoted by IJ Global ("Asia green bonds: looking ahead", 6 June 2018).

On a pro bono basis Bree leads a work stream for the IRENA supported Solar Energy Standardization Initiative (SESI), a global market changing initiative to accelerate the development of solar PV project globally.

Bree was shortlisted by Euromoney Asia Women in Business Legal Awards 2017 as Best in Energy and Natural Resources.

Reed Smith Renewables work in Asia

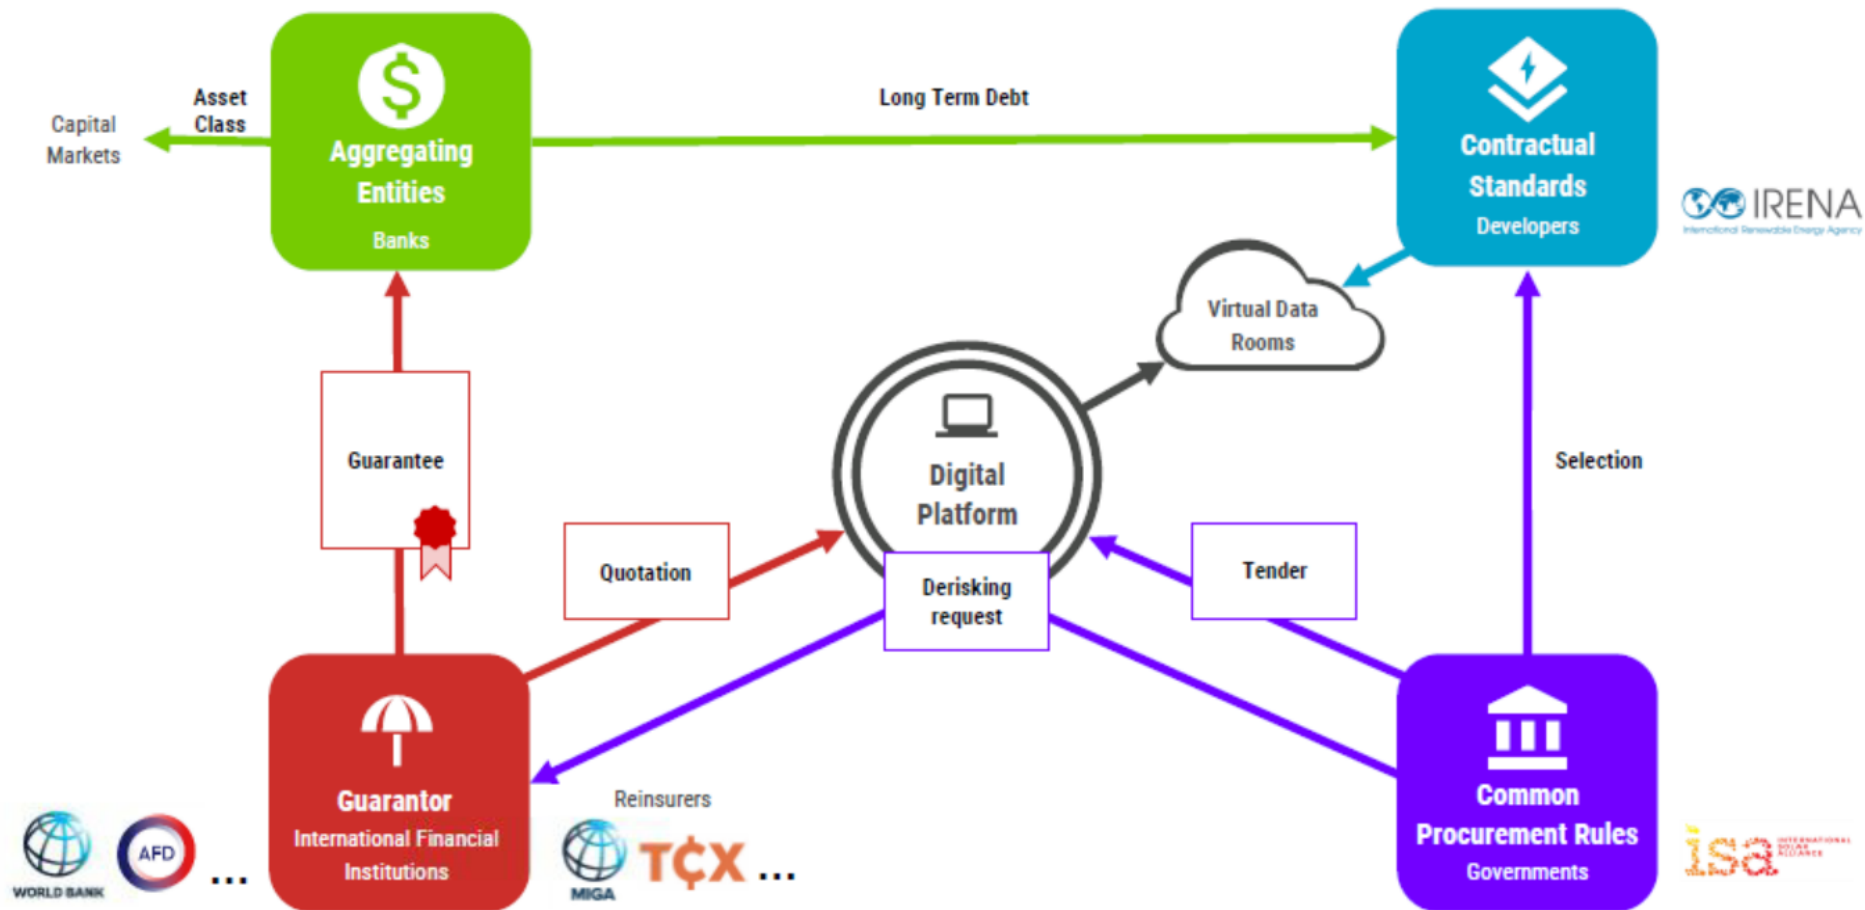

TWI & IRENA Solar Energy Standardization Initiative

Objective:

To structure and implement a framework for the engagement of relevant stakeholders to develop standardised contracts that will help streamline (and also increase the speed of) the development and financing process for solar projects around the globe.

To develop a simple, standardised contractual “project documentation” that will facilitate a scale up of solar PV investments around the globe.
